

What's Happening in Trubyville

Weekly Newsletter October 9, 2009

It is not enough to have a good mind. The main thing is to use it well.

Math

We took our 4th math test yesterday, and the scores were simply amazing! All the students mastered the concepts that have been taught and are doing a fantastic job at their daily work. Please compliment your child on his/her great math score!

Reading

We finished our novel Jeremy Thatcher, Dragon Hatcher yesterday. The students were asked to take their AR test over the book; thereby helping them in their goal of gaining 16 AR points for the nine weeks. Our next novel will be Regarding the Fountain. It is a fun, whimsical book about a school that needs a new water fountain. It is the start of a great series.

AR Points This Nine Weeks:

Zoo Field Trip

Thank you to all the parents that drove on our field trip Tuesday to the zoo. It was an absolutely fabulous, but chilly day, filled with lots of fun activities dealing with fire safety. This field trip was designed specifically for 5th graders, and it was a wonderful experience.

It was very exciting to win a painting created by Stephanie the elephant. I have wanted one of these for years and was ecstatic when my name was called. I wish all of you could have heard the voices of the 5th graders from TIS when our school was announced. Quite a moment!

Olivia and Riley are holding the painting by an elephant!

Conference Schedule

Written below is your scheduled time for conferences. Please take a minute and let me know that this time works for your schedule. Please write a short note in your child's agenda. This will help me tremendously.
